Our Daily Bread

Sliced Thin by The Editor
Alex. H. WashburnA Smart Squirrel
Livestock Sale
Prescott Parade

Claud W. Garner, Wilson Drive, Hope's novelist who wrote "Wetback," "Cornbread Aristocrat" and others, was intrigued by the two sparrow traps that are running like crazy in my backyard. I reported 222 sparrow kills thus far—so Claud borrowed one of my traps to try his luck in his own yard.

He started catching sparrows, all right—but reported that one of the characters around his home "found the combination to the trap and escaped."

But it wasn't a sparrow—it was a squirrel.

Claud said the squirrel got into the wire elevator which ordinarily drops a visitor into the cage just as he reaches for the sunflower seed on the bait platform beyond—but this time the elevator jammed and wouldn't descend.

The squirrel was so big that with his head and shoulders in the elevator he still had his hind quarters safely anchored on the entrance platform outside the cage. So Mr. Squirrel calmly ate all the sunflower seed and then backed out of the elevator and rejoined the tree world.

Claud hasn't figured out an answer for that problem, and I can't help him. Anyway, we're trapping sparrows, not squirrels. Occasionally I catch a cardinal, but I check the trap every few hours and turn loose anything that's not a sparrow.

Friends like Mrs. Justine Hamm, 116 W. Ave. C, avoid gun for making war on sparrows. She speaks a kind word for the white-throated sparrow which alone among sparrows is a singer. I found just one among the 222 birds trapped, and freed him.

Maybe this sparrow-killing business is heartless, but you swat flies, don't you? And the sparrow war is designed to help preserve the other birds—the cardinals and brown thrashers in the yard, and the purple martins in pole-houses, which sparrows attempt to crowd out of nesting places.

I owe Jerry O'Neal, Wilson St., thanks for giving me the address of the manufacturer of my fine traps.

Here are some notes I got from Roy Anderson on the size of the weekly livestock sale just out of town on U.S. 67 West:

The sale averages 1,400 cattle at an average price of $200—meaning that $280,000 changes hands here every week.

It's an astonishing business—more than a quarter-million per week.

Pod Rogers, circulation manager, and I took in the Prescott parade Tuesday marking the opening of the three-day Nevada County Fair—Tuesday through Thursday.

It was a fine show—in fact, it gives Hope something to shoot at when staging our own Third District Livestock Show parade upcoming next week.

For some reason or other Prescott usually walks off with the lion's share of prizes for floats entered in the local parade after their own show has passed into history.

250 attend meeting

About 250 persons attended a meeting yesterday (Tuesday) at the Washington gymnasium to discuss the proposed restoration of Pioneer Washington as a major tourist attraction.

A comparison between the possible restoration of Pioneer Washington to Colonial Williamsburg, Va., was made through a slide show of Williamsburg shown by John V. Robinson of the Arkansas Historical Preservation Department in Little Rock.

Also shown was a state map which pinpointed Washington as the hub of a potential tourist area which would include the state-owned diamond mine at Murrensboro and the home of Glen Campbell in nearby Delight.

The state owns the old Federal State Capitol building, and it plans to take over more buildings for possible restoration purposes in the near future. Representing the state Department of Parks and Tourism was Bill Henderson, director. Also attending the meeting was George Peck, of Texarkana, formerly of Hope and president of the Pioneer Washington Foundation; Mrs. Georgia Haynes, foundation director, and State Sen. Olen Hendrix of Prescott.

2 investigations are promised

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two full-scale investigations—one before the election, one afterward—have been promised in the escalating dispute over wheat sales to the Soviet Union.

The pre-election probe by the FBI was announced by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew while campaigning Tuesday in Minneapolis. In fact, he said, "that investigation is in progress" at President Nixon's orders.

But the FBI said it had received no instructions to look into the matter. A spokesman for its parent agency, the Justice Department, Tuesday night would say only that "a preliminary review of the matter referred to by Vice President Agnew is under way."

An Iowa Democrat, Rep. Neal Smith, promised a House subcommittee investigation of the wheat deal and broader questions next February "after the passion of election-year politics has passed."

At a Minneapolis news conference, Agnew said that Nixon ordered the FBI probe to answer such questions as whether major grain exporters received and benefited from advance sales information allegedly fed to them by USDA officials and former officials.

He accused Democrats of spreading innuendos about the deal.

The Iowa congressman said he will press for a full airing of the wheat deal in February or March by a House Small Business subcommittee which he heads.

The deal, he said, raises broader questions about how farmers fare, as compared with exporters, in foreign agriculture trade.

Although the wheat deal was considered a boon for the Farm Belt, critics now question whether farmers were paid prices kept artificially low in order that exporters might reap larger profits. The farm price rose in late July and August after the size of the sale became known.

Another House subcommittee, headed by Rep. Graham Purcell, D-Tex., Tuesday completed a three-day probe into allegations that the Agriculture Department engaged in what Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern has called a "conspiracy of silence" by not disclosing full details of Soviet wheat purchases this summer.

Israelis on guard

More envelope bombs found

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More envelope bombs addressed to Israelis were uncovered and disarmed in Europe today and police on the Continent combined efforts to foil a mass murder plot against Israeli diplomats and officials.

Yigal Allon, Israel's deputy premier, warned in Jerusalem that no Middle East government, even as far from Israel as Libya, would be immune from retaliation for Arab terrorism.

"I am not saying when, where and how—but we will not tolerate terrorism," Allon told newsmen.

Israel in the past has accused Libya and Iraq, as well as neighbors Syria, Lebanon and Egypt, of arming and financing terrorists.

Earlier an Israeli military commentator in Tel Aviv suggested that Arab oil fields are vulnerable.

In addition to the mailed bombs intercepted in Europe and Israel, one was found delivered to the Israeli consul in Montreal today. Canadian police said it had been mailed from the Netherlands as the others had been.

Evidence mounted of a large-scale campaign by Arab terrorists posting bombs from Amsterdam in the Netherlands. Police suspected the Black September guerrilla organization which reportedly threatened such an attack after its onslaught against Israeli athletes at the Munich Olympics.

London's sprawling postal network was sifted for more envelope bombs like the one that killed an Israeli diplomat in his office Tuesday. As many as 17—perhaps even more—could be awaiting delivery.

Two bomb packages were intercepted in Switzerland and suspicious packages were handed over to police in Belgium. Two deadly envelopes were found in Paris Tuesday.

Even in far away Israel itself, the lives of officials were at risk. Police said two bomb letters had been sent to two leading government officials.

All the suspected mail had Amsterdam postmarks.

As British detectives flew to Holland, Scotland Yard organized a search in London. Diplomatic sources said other embassies, including the American, were taking special precautions in handling mail. Staff members were cautioned against opening packages at home.

Use of funds for transit systems OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted for the first time to allow states to spend part of their federal highway allotments to improve rail-transit systems.

By a 48-26 vote Tuesday, the Senate authorized states to divert part of a two-year, $1.6-billion urban-highway fund into rail projects.

That provision, sponsored by Sens. Edmund S. Muskie and John Sherman Cooper, was attached to an $18-billion highways-transit authorization bill. The bill was approved 77 to 0 and sent to the House.

Included in the $18 billion is $14.2 billion for use over the next two years to continue federal highway aid, including funds for completing the remaining 20 per cent of the interstate expressway system.

Another $3.8 billion is earmarked for buying equipment and paying off operating deficits in subway and other rail commuter systems.

Campaign to legalize marijuana lacking funds

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)

— The campaign to legalize marijuana smoking in California is having trouble collecting funds from Hollywood movie stars and big Democratic donors — sources that had been counted on to help, the campaign's chief coordinator says.

Robert Ashford, a young San Francisco attorney who heads the drive for the measure on the Nov. 7 ballot, says campaigners have all but given up trying to get big-name stars, political figures and rock music groups to donate their names, time and money.

"There are stars we know that smoke marijuana every day," said the 29-year-old Ashford. "But they are hiding behind their wealthy attorneys, realizing it's just the poor people who get arrested for smoking marijuana."

"James Coburn endorsed us. Tommy Smothers did, and four rock groups did a single concert for us that netted $8,000 at Winterland in San Francisco, but that's about it," Ashford said Tuesday.

Ashford said the technique to reach people such as Coburn and Smothers is often to contact someone who knows a star or political figure and say, "Can we get him to make a public endorsement, can we use his name, will he do a concert for us, will he send out a letter supporting us to his friends?"

He said the $60,000 the drive has succeeded in bringing in so far has come primarily in small donations — and from the sale of a tiny, gold-painted marijuana leaf pin for $2 and a marijuana initiative T-shirt for $3.

Thus far the drive is about $10,000 in the hole, but Ashford remains optimistic that the measure, Prop. 19, will win the needed majority voter approval even though a recent California Poll showed it trailing with only 33 per cent voter support.

Winners in fair parade

"One Hundred Years in Aviation", at left, was the theme of the overall winning float constructed by the Bodcaw School for entrance in the annual Nevada County Fair Parade held Tuesday. The float also was a first place winner in the school division. The float sponsored by the Prescott Jaycettes, at right, "Summer of '72" was adjudged the first place winner in the civic division.

Second place in the school division went to Emrynet, and Willisville won third place. Prescott B&PW Club and the Prescott Council of Garden Clubs won second and third respectively in the civic float division. The fair queen contest will be held tonight and the rodeo will be held Thursday through Saturday. (See other parade photos on pages 7-8-9-13.)

George McGovern

Tired of bad news, McGovern attacks polls

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Tired of bad news, Sen. George McGovern has attacked what he termed "nutty" public-opinion polls and "lousy" newspaper columnists.

The Democratic presidential nominee rejected more emphatically than ever the findings of recent polls showing him far behind President Nixon. "I think the polls are a lot of rubbish," he said Tuesday. "I don't know where they conduct these polls. I've never talked to an American who's ever been polled, by either Dr. Gallup or Harris. I think they make these things up in the backrooms somewhere."

Today McGovern made two new proposals to increase Social Security payments, favoring full benefits for widows and an increase in the amount of outside income pensioners may earn without reducing benefits.

He spent the night in the mansion of Ohio Gov. John Gilligan. Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine was scheduled to join McGovern at appearances today in northern New Jersey and Philadelphia.

Tuesday, McGovern told students and faculty at Chicago's largest Roman Catholic school that he favors income-tax credits for parents of parochial and private-school students. And he delivered his standard political talk to a rain-dampened street crowd in Milwaukee and airport-rally crowds in Flint, Mich., and Columbus.

Throughout the day, in interviews with local newsmen along the way, McGovern scoffed at the polls that show him lagging 34 points behind President Nixon in general voter preference.

In any case, McGovern said, "we're going to make those pollsters eat those polls before this election is over." He said he's more strongly convinced than ever that he'll beat Nixon.

In Milwaukee, a newsmen asked McGovern if he feels he has been smeared by "the conservative press."

"Some of the columnists are really lousy," McGovern said. "They're so bitter and paranoid about the liberal, progressive movement in this country that they just can't write the truth, they can't write anything decent about any candidate who isn't somebody who is to the right of Genghis Khan."

The candidate said he thinks the American press in general is the best in the world and generally tells the news fairly. "I'm not trying to butter you up. I really mean that," he said.

But McGovern has begun to show signs of irritation at even general news coverage of his admittedly underdog campaign. For example, late Monday night in Carbondale, Ill., he criticized Nixon for "hiding" in the White House and holding too few news conferences. Then he added, "I think that's why the press clobbers me so much, because they can get at me."

UN committee to be chosen

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The General Assembly today chooses a 25-nation steering committee that is destined to handle parliamentary battles over Korea, Bangladesh and terrorism.

Seventeen assembly vice presidents and seven working committee chairmen, all nominated by regional groups, were unopposed for election to sit on the committee with the assembly president, Polish Deputy Foreign Minister Stanislaw Trepczynski.

The steering committee was slated for three half-day meetings to recommend which of 101 proposed items should go on the assembly's agenda and where they should be debated. Its first meeting today seemed sure to produce an early clash over Korea.

Britain, with U.S. support, was ready to propose deferment till next year of an item put forward for this session by China, the Soviet Union and 26 other countries—"creation of favorable conditions to accelerate the ... reunification of Korea."

Diplomats favoring deferment predict the committee would recommend postponement as it did last year, and that later up to 100 of the 132 U.N. members would vote in the assembly to follow the committee's lead.

Arguments of the two sides centered on whether a full, formal debate now would help or hinder the talks North and South Korean Red Cross officials are holding on reunion of divided families, and those the two governments are planning on reunification.

China, which vetoed Bangladesh's U.N. membership application in the Security Council Aug. 25, was all set to fight a proposal that the assembly include admission of new members to the United Nations in its agenda.

Records reported destroyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Numerous records were destroyed at offices of the Committee for the Re-Election of the President following the June 17 break-in at Democratic offices, according to sources quoted today in the Washington Post.

Two top campaign officials, Robert C. Mardian and Frederick La Rue, directed a massive "housecleaning" including the destruction of records pertinent to the case, the newspaper quoted sources as saying.

Mardian was an assistant attorney general before joining President Nixon's campaign committee as political coordinator. La Rue was a White House counsel to the President until he became special assistant to the director of the campaign committee.

A campaign committee spokesman described the Post's sources as "a fountain of misinformation" and would not comment further on the report, the newspaper said.

The Post said its sources reported that former campaign chairman John N. Mitchell instructed Mardian and La Rue to take charge of developing the committee's response to the bugging incident. In addition to the destruction of records, the Post said, the two also prompted staff meetings at which campaign committee employees were told emphatically not to talk about the incident with newsmen.

The Post said the destroyed records included: —Memos describing wiretapped conversations of Democratic party officials at the Watergate.

A list showing that three Nixon campaign officials withdrew some $300,000 from a special fund designated for intelligence gathering on the Democrats. The Post identified the three—all former White House aides—as G. Gordon Liddy, Herbert L. Porter, scheduled director for the campaign, and Jet Stuart Magruder, campaign deputy director.

—As many as seven ledger books listing those who contributed to the Nixon campaign prior to April 7 when a new law took effect requiring disclosure of the names of contributors and the amount they gave. The Nixon campaign has refused to disclose those who helped amass a $10 million kitty prior to that date.

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese forces today were reported clinging precariously to a district town south of Da Nang after their tactical operations center was hit by North Vietnamese fire. The battle for Mo Duc, 90 miles south of Da Nang, raged on for a fifth day.

South Vietnamese relief columns were still trying to lift the siege of Mo Duc, in southern Quang Ngai province. The town was reported contested. Two hundred North Vietnamese troops were said to hold Dragon Mountain, a strongpoint a half mile to the south which commands the town.

Field reports said that government reinforcements had begun an assault on the mountain.

About 100 South Vietnamese militiamen remained inside the district's military compound, although the tactical operations center was hit by a 122mm rocket, the reports said.

The South Vietnamese suffered at least 150 military casualties in the fighting at Mo Duc, officers in the field said. These officers claimed 295 enemy troops were killed.

Many civilians also were killed and wounded in the crossfire of fighting, but there has been no firm count available.

At Duc Pho district, 10 miles farther south, North Vietnamese troops continued to hold a seven-mile stretch of the vital north-south Highway 1, including four bridges on both sides of the district capital.

Da To, a third district town in Quang Ngai province which lies 15 miles west of Duc Pho, fell to the North Vietnamese earlier this week.

More than 150 miles farther north, only small insignificant fighting was reported at Quang Tri City. For the first time in the 5½-month north Vietnamese offensive, the Saigon command's morning communique made no mention of Quang Tri.

Portrait of a Husband

DEAR HELEN: My public husband smiles, laughs, treats his wife and children with consideration.

My private husband criticizes, complains, bosses. If I say it's white, he'll say it's black. He'll say he liked a certain dish, then if I make it next day, he hates it. If I try to discipline the kids, he'll say I'm mean. But if they do something wrong, I don't train them right and I'm a poor mother.

Whatever happens, it's my fault. He does nothing but lie around the house, then yells if it isn't spic and span. (I work eight hours a day outside, the same as he does.)

He says I'm lazy, slow in the head, a "terrible" wife, and no good in bed either, and he wonders why I don't "improve" after ten years of his "teaching."

Well, I've tried, but nothing pleases him. So I told him I wanted a divorce and he says he'll contest it—and win, because everybody knows what a great husband and father he's been. It's true, people THINK he's a wonder. If I leave, they'll never believe I had good reasons.

Since he evidently despises me, I don't know why he wants to keep me around except that if the kids and I leave, he'd have no one to browbeat. He's started belittling them, too.

Don't suggest a marriage counselor. He figures he's perfect and I'm the one who needs a head shrinker. (I went to a therapist: he said divorce seemed indicated.)

Without child support money I couldn't manage four of us on my little paycheck. What can I do?—GAIL

DEAR GAIL:

Are you so beaten down with criticism that you've lost all faith in your own ability? Other women have escaped from failed marriages and managed somehow to provide for themselves and their children.

If your life with this man is as bad as your four-page letter describes, consult a lawyer. Possibly a little bluff-calling might help your husband change his ways — or his decision to contest the divorce.—H.

DEAR HELEN: We went to one of those

"cocktail" shows at a resort hotel.

It featured a well-known singer, and the tab was $12.00 per person, for which you'd get a table and two drinks. Inasmuch as you only pay around $5.00 for a real live concert (less for lousy seats—and we got 'em!) we figured we were being had, especially since they tacked on a whopping "entertainment tax."

But what really burned us was—they added 15 per cent to the bill for the "waiter's gratuity." And all he did was slop two drinks in front of us—at the same time, so that one got stale—which took him no more than five minutes. That's approximately one dollar per minute. When we complained about the management allowing a written demand for a tip, we were threatened.

Is it legal for the waiter to include his tip on the bill?—MAD AND HAD

DEAR M AND H:

In some places: yes; and I'm afraid this resort area is one of them. Your best recourse: don't return, and spread the "over-priced, under-served" word among your friends. Clubs don't last long without repeat or word-of-mouth business, and this club isn't likely to get either!—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Here's a quote that might help a lot of your correspondents: "Love looks forward, hate looks back, anxiety has eyes all over its head." (M. McLaughlin) I wonder why it's so hard for people to love?—READER

DEAR READERS: ...Perhaps because they're too often filled with anxiety that love won't be returned—and hate when it isn't.—H.

Good Neighbor Club meets

Mrs. Millicent Smith hosted the Good Neighbor Club last Thursday. Nine members and two visitors, Mrs. Myrtle Brown and Mrs. Vergie Huckabee, were present.

Mrs. Smith read Psalms 92 and presented the devotional and a poem.

After a business session Mrs. Smith served cookies, ice cream and punch. Mrs. Huckabee won the door prize, other prizes were won by Mae Collins, Myrtle Brown, and Mrs. Turner. The next meeting is scheduled for October 12.

Jaycee-ette chapter is organized

An initial meeting of the Hope Jaycee-ettes was held Monday, September 18 in the home of Mrs. Jerry Garrett. Mrs. Lit Fowler, accompanied by six other Texarkana Jaycee-ettes, conducted the organizational meeting.

The new club set 7 p.m. at Mrs. Garrett's home on October 16 as the next meeting date, and it urges all Jaycee wives to attend. At that time officers will be elected and a constitution will be drafted.

Band Boosters slate clean-up day at park

The monthly Band Boosters meeting was held Tuesday night in the newly air-conditioned band hall, with attendance of approximately 35.

According to band director Gary Wells, Hope will host the Regional Band Marching Contest October 21. The High School Band marched in the Four States Fair Parade in Texarkana last week, and both senior and junior high bands marched in the Nevada County Fair Parade at Prescott this week.

The Band Boosters invite the public to note the new appearance of the concession stand at Fair Park, and express a special thanks to Ordin Exterminating Co. for donating their services; also appreciate the donation of the paint. There will be a special clean-up day beginning at 8:30 Thursday morning, both at Fair Park and the football field. Boosters are urged to donate their services that day.

Plans were made for the operation of the concession stand during fair week. The meeting was then adjourned with refreshments served by Mrs. A.J. Roy.

Mrs. East hosts Homemakers Club

The Shover Springs Extension Homemakers Club met Thursday, September 14 at the home of Mrs. Wanda East. The president, Mrs. Charles Burch, opened the meeting by giving the thought of the month. She also led the group in singing "My Wild Irish Rose." Mrs. East gave the devotion.

Mrs. Wilton Mullins gave the lesson on clothes dryers and gave a leader's report, "Free Offers, Watch the Labels on Things You Buy." Another leader's report, "Fixing Up Your Children's Room," was presented by Mrs. East, while Mrs. Bob Dillard had a leader's report on rearranging the bedroom.

In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Gene Dillard, Mrs. Bob Dillard read the minutes and called the roll. Eleven members answered by telling "What I think is most important about a dryer." The meeting was closed by all reading the Homemakers Prayer.

Mrs. A.M. Hewitt won the door prize, and those receiving gifts from their Secret Pals were Mrs. Wanda East, Mrs. Wilton Mullins and Mrs. Jimmy Guiliams. Cake and cold drinks were served to the members and three children. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Bob Dillard.

UCLA goes for another upset against Michigan

NEW YORK (AP) — UCLA, already having beaten one college football giant with an opening-game upset of Nebraska, goes for another Saturday night when the Bruins take on Michigan's defending Big Ten Conference champions in Los Angeles.

The triumph over Nebraska hinged on five turnovers—three fumbles and two interceptions—and UCLA's Pepper Rodgers is hopeful of more of the same.

"To beat Michigan we need turnovers," he says. "Bo Schembechler has got to play some people who will give us the ball."

"Talk about Michigan not making errors," he went on, harking back to films of the Wolverines' 7-0 victory over Northwestern last weekend, "there was a fumble and I think Bo sent him to Siberia. The player left the game and I didn't see him return."

The highlight of this young season has been the return of ... UCLA.

Southern California at Illinois—Illinois' Bob Blackman is one USC alumnus who may want to fire the Trojans' coach this weekend—for winning Southern Cal.

Oregon at Oklahoma—The Ducks waddle into Oklahoma's Wishbone this weekend and UCLA's next week. The Ducks will snap, not the Wishbone, Oklahoma.

Nebraska at Army—Army has a 73-6-3 record in opening games. Last year, though, the Cadets lost to Stanford and this year they'll lose to ... Nebraska.

Bradshaw named AP offensive Player of Week

NEW YORK (AP) — When Terry Bradshaw was a rookie during the 1970 National Football League season, he threw four interceptions in a game against the Oakland Raiders, who easily whipped Bradshaw and the Pittsburgh Steelers 31-14.

The blond quarterback's return match against the Raiders last Sunday was a lot more successful even though he threw three interceptions. He scored two touchdowns and passed for another as the Steelers won 34-28.

Bradshaw's performance, which included rushing for 49 yards and completing seven of 17 passes for 124 yards, earned him Associated Press Offensive Player of the Week honors.

The third-year pro was the Steelers No. 1 pick in the 1970

NFL draft. He had been selected as the Little All-America quarterback while playing at Louisiana Tech.

Bradshaw never received the sideline training of most pro quarterbacks. He started the first seven games of his rookie season before giving way to Terry Hanratty, a second-year man. The time spent on the bench must have made an impression on Bradshaw, who came back last season to start all but one game and lead the Steelers in rushing touchdowns with five.

Pittsburgh has never won a title, league, conference or division. But Bradshaw is the player who the Steelers' owner, Art Rooney, and head coach Chuck Noll, are counting on to lead the way toward the Super Bowl.

Smith trades passing for the Wishbone

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Dave Smith came to Oklahoma State University with a passing background—seven years as an assistant at Southern Methodist University and one year in the Canadian Football League.

After three weeks of spring practice, he junked it all for the Wishbone.

"We didn't really know a whole lot about the Wishbone," Smith said in an interview, "but we made more long runs in our final scrimmage than we had after three weeks of working on our passing attack."

OSU made its debut in the Wishbone last week, setting a school record of 580 yards rushing in a 21-3 victory over the University of Texas-Arlington. The opponent Saturday night at Little Rock is the University of Arkansas.

OSU's Wishbone operator is Brent Blackman, who Smith says has a "natural ability" to run the offense. Against Arlington, Blackman carried 12 times for 173 yards.

Blackman is 5-foot-11 and weighs 170 pounds, which is bigger than Texas Wishbone winner Donnie Wigginton, Smith points out. He also is an "exceptional runner in the open field."

Blackman was complemented against Arlington by Fountain Smith, who gained 123 yards, and George Palmer, who netted 99 yards. Smith is a sophomore with 9.6 speed. Alton Gerard, who scored once against Arlington, Alfred Nelms and other OSU backs are in the 9.6-9.7 category. Palmer, the fullback, runs 10 flat.

OSU fumbled seven times last week and twice failed to score on 70-yard plus runs. Blackman broke once and Palmer once.

"All our quarterback has to do is jog on across, but he stumbled on the artificial turf," Smith said. "While he was trying to regain his balance, his knee came up and hit the ball. There were six OSU players and one Arlington player within 15 yards of the ball and it bounced right to the Arlington player."

Palmer went 71 yards before being dragged down at the Arlington two. On the next play, he lost the ball on a fumble.

"We've got a long way to go in executing the way we'd like to but we are excited about the potential," he said. "Execution is just reading the key...working against the various type of stunts, saying ready for the difference secondary stunts. You've just got to scratch where it itches."

OSU threw only six times against Arlington, completing one for three yards.

"Blackman wasn't particularly interested in throwing and we're not going to emphasize it any more," Smith said. "It takes a little longer to work on and that's not what we're interested in."

Smith said that after three weeks of spring practice he realized the Cowboys were going to have to abandon the wide-open attack.

"We didn't feel we had the exceptional receiver nor were we tall enough with Blackman," Smith said. "And, we don't have the physical linemen we need to protect."

Arkansas has had two weeks to prepare for OSU since losing its opener to the University of Southern California 31-10.

"You know they're going to be fighting mad," Smith said.

"They've got a lot of pride and tradition. I was at SMU a couple of years ago when they lost their opener to Stanford and they came back awfully strong then."

Smith said that after seeing the Razorbacks in the spring he was convinced they were "as good individually or better than they have ever been."

Simpson has 'perfect day'

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State cornerback Bill Simpson made more than one dream come true by his "perfect day" on the football field last Saturday.

His happiness was shared with his father, whose hopes of a professional baseball career were thwarted when he lost a leg during World War II.

For his defensive performance in the Spartans' 24-0 victory over Illinois Saturday, the 20-year-old Simpson was named Associated Press College Back of the Week.

"I had always thought of having a big day like I did Saturday," said the 6-foot-1, 179-pound junior cornerback. "It was just a perfect day."

Simpson scored two touchdowns, one on a 48-yard punt return, the other on a 20-yard pass interception. He also recovered a fumble, setting up a field goal, and he made several tackles.

But Simpson was happiest with his punting. His eight punts averaged nearly 39 yards.

"The punting did give us good field position," he said. Four punts landed inside Illinois' 11-yard line.

PRO CHARTS

by MURRAY OLDERMAN

American Conference: Western Division
—KANSAS CITY CHIEFS

Hank Stram

OFFENSE

QUARTERBACK—Persuading Lenny Dawson to come back for 16th pro season was probably most important move by Chiefs. Mike Livingston remains the heir apparent. Rating—B+.

RUNNING BACKS—All-pro recognition is going to come soon to poppy Ed Podolak. Stram likes to emphasize blocking from his fullbacks, Wendell Hayes and Jim Ois. Rookie Jeff Kinney could help. Rating—B+.

WIDE RECEIVERS—Don't see how you can get them better than phenomenal Otis Taylor and jitter-stepping Elmo Wright. No way they can be contained as deep threats for entire game. Quality behind them drops off severely. Rating—A.

TIGHT END—Really something now that Morris Stroud attained full growth as player (he's 6-10 to start with). Keeps former all-leaguer like Willie Frazier on bench. Rating—A.

LINE—Veteran, effective unit, headed by Jim Tyrer and Ed Budde, with 20 years experience between them. Mo Moorman's clamoring for equal attention, too. If any of the old boys slip up, young Sid Smith is ready for increased action at tackle. Rating—A.

DEFENSE

LINE—Anchored around that mighty tackle tandem of Buck Buchanan (big) and Curley Culp (squat). Aaron Brown at end would tear league apart if he could stay healthy long enough. Marv Upshaw coming strong at end and there's wee Wilbur Young, a 300-pound broth of a lad. All put great pressure on passer. Rating—A.

LINEBACKERS—Just couldn't put together more effective threesome than Bobby Bell and Jim Lynch at corners, Willie Lanier in middle. They have range and they hit. And behind them Bob Stein is a ready reserve, if Bell, at 32, needs any rest. Rating—A.

SECONDARY—Sure, and they'll miss Johnny Robinson at the free safety. He was the spiritual leader of the club, an AFL original. It's up to Kerry Reedson (or maybe Mike Sensibaugh) to take over. Corners securely fastened by Jim Marshall, Emmett Thomas, with Jim Kearny as kick at strong safety. Rating—B.

KICKING—One missed field goal by Jan Stenerud shouldn't alter fact he's top threat in league. And Jerrell Wilson booms punts long as ever after nine seasons. Rating—A.

SPECIAL TEAMS—Abundance of good athletes carries over into this area. They're real hitters, led by Caesar Belsler. Also good enough on kick returns, with Ed Podolak and Warren McVea. Rating—B+.

PREDICTION

Second in division. Choice made with no real conviction, because Chiefs should make playoffs anyhow.

Div. 7AA news

Div. 7AA football teams had an outstanding weekend against non-league foes this past Friday night headed up by Malvern's upsetting AAAA North Little Rock Northeast 28-13. Magnolia blasted Parkview (Boosier City, La.) 46-0; Crossett defeated in-county rival Hamburg 13-7; and Camden edged Pine Bluff Dollarway 9-6.

On the three week season 7AA teams are 7-3 against outside foes.

In conference play this past week the Hope Bobcats continue to look strong as they defeated Arkadelphia 28-7, while Ashdown disposed of Fairview 25-0.

The first full week of league play comes up this week as Camden travels to Magnolia; Hope goes to Fairview; Crossett plays at Arkadelphia; and Ashdown plays at Malvern.

Magnolia and Hope continue as the only unbeaten teams in season plays while Malvern and Camden join them in clean records in loop play.

Malvern leads the league in rushing with 775 yards. Crossett leads the loop in passing with 342 yards. Magnolia is the leader in defense against rushing, yielding 165 yards in three games. Magnolia is also the top scoring team with 104 points and defense against scoring in allowing only 19 points.

Two more field goals were kicked this past week as Camden's David Jordan won a game with his toe in the final two minutes and Paul Bonds booted a three pointer for Magnolia. Four field goals have been kicked in three weeks.

J. Ross of Malvern has vaulted into the individual scoring leadership with 40 points coming on five touchdowns and ten extra points. D. Johnson of Hope dropped to second with 30.

P. Bonds of Magnolia is the extra point leader with 11.

Team scoring both offensive and defensively is up this season. After three weekends of play 7AA teams scored a total of 432 points compared to 302 points for the same period last season. On defense 7AA teams have allowed 333 points this season compared to 282 points last year at this time.

Les Williams:

Crazy man

That's Les Williams, a player called "a leader" by his teammates and "a fierce competitor" by his coaches. He refers to football as his No. 1 love, but admits that he would also like to play in the school band. Football is a serious matter, he says, but at the same time, he exhibits a light-hearted, sometimes humorous air when talking about the game.

"I just love to get out there and practice and have a good time and really get in there and fight," he said early this week as the Razorbacks began their second week of preparations for Saturday's game against Oklahoma State (War Memorial Stadium, 7:30 p.m.).

Williams started every game of the 1971 season at defensive end, although he had never played the position before last year.

"I made the big switch last year, and it wasn't easy," he said. "I was a linebacker in the past, and I remember dropping back to cover receivers instead of rushing the passer when I first began to play at end."

But the major problems have been ironed out after 13 games at the new post. Now Williams is concentrating on the finer points.

"I made some mistakes against those giants of Southern Cal," Williams said of Arkansas' opening defeat. "We've worked on those mistakes-containing the outside game and improving our pass rush-and now we're getting ready for Oklahoma State."

Williams, who played high school football at Enid, played the position before last year.

FINAL PREDICTIONS—NFL

PROSPECTUS—The business of professional football continues to dominate the American sporting scene. It has peaked. That doesn't mean it's going into downturn—yet. It's just that there are no more tickets to sell and the TV rate-per-minute can't go higher. Only new direction is expansion, still some time off. So they worry about such prosaic problems as the zone defense and how to legislate against it (moved the hash marks in three yards on each side this season). More logical solution would be to take all those big studs they're drafting for defense and use them on attacking units. Anyhow, NFL should be more concerned about potential viewer saturation because TV eventually gulps all (as it did with boxing). It'll be a problem in a couple of years. For now, they've got a product everyone wants. And a competitive situation in which any one of half a dozen clubs are good bets for Super Bowl nomination.

NATIONAL CONFERENCE

Eastern Division—The reign of the Dallas Cowboys is a lot shakier than people think. Not only have they continuing doubt at QB but a defense that could suddenly get old. The Redskins really threatening and could knock them right out of the play-off spot.

Central Division—The Minnesota Vikings are the continuing powerhouse of the NFC and now they have Francis Tarkenton to lead them. Unbeatable combination. But Detroit's good, too, and should rate a place in play-offs on basis of season record.

Western Division—Although Atlanta's coming on, the battle remains a San Francisco-Los Angeles duel. The 49ers are beginning to show some chinks, haven't had much draft help last couple of years. The Rams, stimulated by new ownership and Tommy Prothro's guidance, should prevail.

NFC Play-off—This has to be the Vikings' year. They've won their division four years in row, have best win-loss record in all pro football for that period. And Fran the Man should make the difference in the play-offs.

AMERICAN CONFERENCE

Eastern Division—A real rat-race. Darkhorse factor is what Joe Namath does to uplift Jets. That Baltimore defense always keeps Colts in contention. But for balance you still have to go with the Miami Dolphins, who also have added maturity from Super Bowl appearance.

Central Division—Weakest in conference, and maybe in NFL. The Cleveland Browns keep losing ground as dominant team. The Cincinnati Bengals are too up-and-down to merit confidence. This should be the breakthrough year for long-suffering Pittsburgh Steelers fans.

Western Division—Suddenly everyone's wondering about trade-happy

San Diego Chargers, who've jacked up their roster with lot of name players. For squad depth, though, you don't beat the Oakland Raiders and the Kansas City Chiefs. The Raiders are the hunch choice because they're hungrier.

AFC Play-off—Quite likely you'll see Chiefs and Raiders from some division in finals. Ned goes to Raiders—watch out for their young quarterback, Ken Stabler, who protects against Lamonica letdown.

SUPER BOWL VII

A Minnesota-Oakland showdown would match two of the strongest squads in the game. Raiders play it a little fancier. Vikings grind people down. The choice here would be Minnesota.

Boston leads the pack in mad pennant race

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The winner of this mad, mad, mad American League East pennant chase obviously will be the team that manages to play fewer games than the others in the final two weeks of the baseball season.

Boston was back on top of the pack today, thanks to some friendly clouds that dumped enough moisture on Fenway Park to force postponement of Tuesday night's scheduled game against Baltimore. The rainout meant the Red Sox couldn't lose—something Detroit and New York did quite thoroughly.

Detroit, which had taken the lead the night before thanks to an open date on the schedule, dropped a doubleheader to Cleveland 3-2 and 6-4 to slip into a second place tie with Baltimore, one-half game behind Boston. Fourth place New York lost to Milwaukee 7-2, but with the Tigers losing twice, the Yankees actually gained a half game on Detroit and remained 2½ games out of first place, now occupied by the Red Sox.

Elsewhere in the AL, Minnesota topped Texas 5-3, Kansas City trimmed California 7-2 and Chicago took Oakland 8-7 in 15 innings.

Bill Parsons throttled New York on six hits and George Scott and Johnny Briggs tagged consecutive homers for the Brewers. And, believe it or not, the Brewers felt the pennant pressure every bit as much as the Yankees.

"There's really more pressure on us than on New York, Boston, Detroit and Baltimore," said Scott, "because we don't want to be on a last place club the rest of our careers. Every win means something for us, if only for morale next spring." The loss didn't do much for the Yankees' morale. New York still figures it has a break in the schedule with 10 of 12 remaining games against Cleveland and the Brewers, the East tail-enders.

After beating Mickey Lolich in the opener, the Indians completed the sweep as Graig Nettles tagged his 17th homer of the year in the nightcap.

Willie Horton accounted for three Tiger runs with an eighth inning homer.

Oklahoma's Jones gets kick out of blocking

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's easy to get overlooked when your name is Jones, and being an offensive lineman doesn't help, either, but Ken Jones doesn't mind.

"I've been a lineman all my life," he says. "I just get a kick out of blocking."

The Oklahoma coaches got a kick out of Jones' blocking in Saturday's 49-0 rout of Utah State. They graded him at 86 per cent for the sweltering 95-degree afternoon after the Sooners backs ran through holes opened by Jones for four consecutive touchdowns.

For that showing, the 6-foot-3, 235-pound senior guard from Omaha, Neb., was named college football's National Lineman of the Week by The Associated Press.

"Ken played well all afternoon," said Coach Chuck Fairbanks. "His endurance was just amazing. He fired off the line well on almost every play."

"He's the hardest-working player I've ever coached," says Bill Michael, who handles Oklahoma's offensive line. "He's got size, tremendous strength, above-average quickness and a super attitude. He's a tremendous one-on-one blocker."

In winning Lineman of the Week honors, Jones beat out defensive ends Randy Lee of Tulane and Allan Melton of the Citadel and Ernie Clark of Duke; defensive tackle Tom Waddell of UCLA; middle guard Millard Neely of Baylor; linebackers Richard Wood of Southern California, Harold Evans of Houston, Danny Bakley of Virginia and Tom Kee of Michigan; offensive guard Ron Rusnak of North Carolina and tight end Dan Greenwood of Iowa State.

Thomas returns to Charger camp

GREENVILLE, Tex. (AP) — The judge who placed Duane Thomas on probation for possession of marijuana last February apparently was a big factor in convincing the moody running back to come out of football retirement.

Thomas returned Tuesday to the San Diego Chargers, who acquired him from the Dallas Cowboys in July for wide receiver Billy Parks and halfback Mike Montgomery. State District Court Judge Hollis Garmon said Tuesday he told Thomas that if he completed one successful year with the Chargers, the court would consider reducing Thomas' five-year probation sentence.

Tuesday Thomas reported to the Chargers and went through a special training session in football gear, including work with quarterback John Hadl.

Color Baldwin mature

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Last year, Isaac Baldwin was green. This year, color him mature.

"The difference is a year's experience," says Wayne Coach Jim Jordan of his 165-pound halfback.

Baldwin gained 231 yards on 32 carries Friday night in a Region 4AA showdown with Brinkley and for his performance was named Arkansas High School Player of the Week by The Associated Press.

"He can run inside and he can get outside," Jordan said. "And, he can really find the soft spot. That's what he does best."

In 1971, Baldwin led the Yellowjackets with 714 yards rushing. In three games this fall, he has netted 503 yards.

"The only thing he's lacking to make a complete football player is to bring his blocking up a little bit," Jordan said. "He's definitely a college prospect as a defensive back or a halfback in the Wishbone."

Jordan also said fullback Glen Fowler and halfback Larry Jones should share in Baldwin's honor. "They kind of take the pressure off one another," Jordan said.

He also said Baldwin had much to help up front from tight end Duke Keath, split end Ray Butts, guards Kenny Banks and Gerald Rolland, center Ken Covington and tackles Andrew Hess and Boyce Bratcher.

There were also several other players around the state who deserve mention:

Eddie Peters, Little Rock Hall quarterback—threw touchdown passes of 19 and 37 yards and scored twice in the Warriors' 41-7 victory over Little Rock McClellan.

J. R. Ross, Malvern halfback—carried the ball 29 times for 194 yards and scored three touchdowns; the Class AA Leopards knocked off Class AAAA North Little Rock Northeast 20-13.

Allan Gustin, Berryville halfback—gained 212 yards on 19 carries and scored touchdowns on runs of 60, 20, 15 and 19 yards as the Bobcats whipped Green Forest 34-6.

Billy Ray Conner, England halfback—scored one of his three touchdowns with 22 seconds remaining to give England a 21-14 victory over Des Arc. Rick Kyle, Little Rock Catholic quarterback—scored two touchdowns and completed a scoring pass with 50 seconds remaining as the Rockets rallied to defeat Little Rock Central 20-17.

U OF A GETS GRANT

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $15,170 grant has been approved by the Environmental Protection Agency for the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville.

The office of Rep. John Paul Hammerschmidt, R-Ark., said Tuesday the grant is to be used for a project entitled "Behavioral Affects of Low Intensity UHF Radiation."

Bob Rowe named 'Player of Week'

ST. LOUIS (AP) — "If you're uptight and worried, you're not going to be able to think about the game of football," said mustachioed Bob Rowe, the Defensive Player of the Week in the National Football League. Rowe, conceding he's the worrying type, discarded the pattern Sunday and led the St. Louis Cardinals to a 10-3 victory over the Baltimore Colts in their NFL opener.

"One of my big things is having confidence in myself," said the 6-foot-4, 260-pound tackle, who deflected one Baltimore field goal try and blocked two others.

In addition, the 27-year-old product of Western Michigan contributed four unassisted tackles including one of the Colts' Johnny Unitas that help stymie a last-minute Baltimore threat.

"I just decided this is my year," said Rowe, the Cards' second-round draft choice in 1967. "This is my sixth year, and obviously I'm capable of playing in the league. Now's the time to play football."

Rowe, two years a part of a Cards front four which shut out three straight opponents, called an adaptation to Coach Bob Holloway's zone defenses a major factor in his resurgence.

"I'm learning Coach Holloway's philosophy of getting off the line quickly," he said. "Ours was a reading defense under coaches (Dick) Voss and (Charley) Winner. Now we try to explode."

Reflecting on the team's 4-9-1 record and frustrations in 1971, Holloway's first season, Rowe noted, "Coach Holloway went out and got the players he wanted. We're a lot more relaxed this year and we're having fun."

LARRY PATTERSON

Larry Patterson is club's guest speaker

Larry Patterson, local attorney, was the speaker at the Lions weekly luncheon Monday at the Town and Country Restaurant.

Jimmie Griffin, program chairman, introduced Patterson who then gave a report on his work as juvenile referee in cooperation with the county judge.

The juveniles that Mr. Patterson work with come under two general classifications; dependent and neglected children and delinquent children.

Since drugs are of paramount interest to the public the speaker said that there had been 17 violations from use of drugs in the past year and about 35 known to have experimented with drugs during the time he has worked with juveniles. Most cases were likened to trying a forbidden cigarette or drink but he did recall a serious case where a youth had been overcome by LSD.

Patterson said that 14-15-year-olds began to resent authority and guidance and were still not mature enough to see the difference between prescription drugs taken by their parents and those they tried for effect.

He observed that most of the trouble came from over permissiveness and neglect by parents, and that the greatest need to control delinquency was communication between young and old.

Another problem the speaker discussed was that of child abuse. Cases have tripled in the past three years with 33 cases in the past 10 months.

On controlling juvenile delinquency the speaker said that he favored avoiding sending offenders to the State Industrial School whenever possible, because the young inmates usually learned more ways to get into trouble while there.

Burglary and cases involving the use of firearms are so serious that these cases are referred to the state correctional institutions.

Patterson concluded by saying new ways are not always the best way and that the close family unit and communication of twenty-five or thirty years ago compared very well indeed with modern social study recommendations.

George Smith, Managing Editor of the Hope Star, was introduced as a new member, transferring his membership from another city.

Hugh Brown, of Tol-E-Tex Oil Company, was the guest of Gus Hogan; Gerald Keith, Hope city manager, was guest of Jim Cobb; and Joe Eason, First National Bank of Hope, was the guest of Yancey Reynolds.

Beyond routine business matters plans were discussed for club participation in a radiothon to aid the James Betts family in payment of unusually large hospital and medical expenses. The radiothon over KXAR here will be held on September 30.

Boyleing it down

By LOUISE COOK

The best laid plans of mice and men, not to mention women, invariably go astray when vacation time rolls along.

No matter how early you start, no matter how many lists you make, something is bound to happen that leaves you with a last-minute flurry of unpacked necessities, unconfirmed reservations and unsettled nerves.

This year I was determined to beat the system.

Our passports were in order. So were our smallpox vaccination certificates, even though you don't need them these days to get back in the country.

The trains, the planes and the mails all were reported to be in working order. Unlike the year there was a postal strike in Britain. Grudgingly, I placed a transatlantic phone call to make hotel reservations in England only to be told: "Can't you confirm it in writing, please?"

This year, I mailed neatly typed letters — carefully filing the carbons — a full three weeks before departure.

Of course I managed to mis-address one of them, sending it to the wrong address in the wrong city in the wrong county. Somehow those British postmen, now back on the job thank goodness, got the letter on the right track and I received an answer. After a long-enough delay to allow for considerable worrying — on my part — and derision — on my husband's.

Then there was the problem of laundry. Anyone who's ever packed for vacation knows that it takes at least a master's degree in mathematics to figure out just when to do the last laundry before leaving. Timing is crucial so the whole family has enough clean clothes to take along and enough clean clothes to wear before departure. Naturally, somebody always winds up with one too few pair of something.

Departure day is one day off. Our destination? Uncertain.

But at least everything's packed. Or is it? And did I turn off the lights? What about telling the mailman to hold our letters?

Next year I must get organized.

The wall cracks but the barrier remains

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Senior Editor

BERLIN — (NEA) — On arrival, the first-time visitor is quickly struck by this city's concrete-and-barbed-wire schizophrenia. Nothing can prepare you for the sight and wickedness of it. The Berlin Wall was erected by the East Germans on Aug. 13, 1961. "Since then," says a travel pamphlet, "the German Democratic Republic, free from imperialist disturbances, continued its Socialist construction."

One may see the crosses of some of those "imperialist disturbances" on some sidewalks in West Berlin, within 50 yards of the Wall. Snapshots on wooden crosses mark the spots where escaping East Berliners were shot down by their soldiers in watch towers. (Once there were many escape attempts, from tunneling to straight boltings. With tighter Eastern security there are virtually none now.)

One may also comprehend the crosses that some of these "disturbances" must bear. Where the wall went up on Bernauerstrasse, for example, it sealed the entrance to a church. At other points, there are old apartment buildings on either side of the Wall; the East Berlin dwellers are not allowed to smile, wave — not even snarl — at their westerly neighbors, even though they are close enough to throw a ball back and forth from windows. Some East Berliners who lost their heads for a moment and were caught showing a neighborly human gesture have mysteriously vanished.

The 27-mile Wall was built along the boundary of the "Soviet sector" (Britain, France and United States have sectors, too, by the post-World War II agreement of the Allies). The Wall literally split houses as it ripped a swath through a city and through families.

One middle-aged West Berlin woman, who begged to be nameless here, said that until recently she had not seen her three brothers and sister living in East Berlin in 10 years, even though she could go atop one of West Berlin's new mountains (piled from war rubble) and see their house.

West Berliners were not permitted to pass beyond the Wall, until last April. Then, the East Germans gave permission for selected West Berliners to spend up to 30 days a year visiting until nightfall.

"But," said the West Berlin woman, "it is still dangerous. I had to go not as a relative but as a friend. I could not go to the home of my family. We had to meet in a cafe. We cannot meet again for five more years. My family fears that the college scholarships will be taken away if they find out about a West Berlin relative."

West Berlin is actually an island in East Germany. The Wall in fact does not so much divide the city as it encircles West Berlin. In 1948, in a macabre attempt to take over the whole town, the Soviet Union cut off all land and water routes to West Berlin. An airlift by the British, French and Americans brought in food, coal and all vital supplies for 11 months. The Soviets finally reopened the routes.

Giant window-boarded storehouses in West Berlin are now stocked with six-months' supply of food and other living essentials in case of another Soviet blockade.

Despite the aura of despair life thrives on both sides, in ghostly pursuit of the historic glory days when Berlin was a dashing world cultural center.

West Berlin is defiantly bold in its brightness. The city at night wears a neon suit and thrums with rouge cabarets. It is in explosive contrast to bleaker East Berlin, which still has many theaters and opera houses but must import actors and singers (including some from West Berlin) to fill the stage.

Day has its darkness on both sides. Each side of the city still rocks with reconstruction and restoration, a full 27 years after the bombs and grenades of World War II. Almost every Berlin street was brutally fought for. Stark shells of buildings remain.

"That," says a proud West Berlin guide, pointing at a beautiful baroque building with wrought-iron balconies, "is the way all of Berlin used to look." Most buildings now are straight-lined modern. It will take another quarter of a century to finish postwar rebuilding.

It is of course impossible for West Berliners to retreat to the nearby countryside on weekends (although Hanover, West Germany, is only a couple hours' drive on the autobahn) since the surrounding East Germany is verboten to them. So some West Berliners maintain cottages in town. A large fenced-off park simulates weekend countryside.

These citizens wall themselves off from the wall. Yet they can still read the electric signs on top of tall West Berlin buildings that send world news to East Berliners. "Those signs are the only link to the truth that our East Berlin brothers have," said one West Berliner.

Most of East Berlin's war rubble has been cleared, but there remains the common Iron Curtain glumness (as viewed by a Western eye). Perhaps it has to do with less cars on the road, less creative store-window displays (no competition, no need for it), less lively clothing, less paint.

But always the Wall. Under den Linden ("Under the Linden trees") is one of the grandest streets of Europe and the pride of East Berlin. It is a street with the city's finest department stores mixed with white-washed foreign embassies. One may walk under the Lindens ("297, count them for yourself," urges the travel pamphlet) and walk straight into the Wall. One could walk into the Wall, that is, if one could get past the "no-man's" land of barbed-wire fence, German shepherds, dumped sand and the pair of rifle-bearing soldiers in this one of 210 border watchtowers.

"We hate the Wall," said a middle-aged East Berlin woman, who spoke quietly, quickly and with surprising frankness in the bar of an East Berlin hotel. "And we hate the Soviets. They put the wall up. But it was President Kennedy's fault for letting them do it. Didn't he get the Soviet missile bases out of Cuba? You see, Cuba was next door. Berlin was halfway round the world. What did he care for us?"

She was sad that East Berliners could not travel into West Berlin, even on the limited basis afforded her West Berlin neighbors. "But I think people here are resigned to life as it is," she said. "Twenty-seven years of Russian rule. Twelve years of the Nazis before that. The Depression before that. Most of us here know only hard times. But many of the young people are happy. They have their free schools and sports."

Are you happy? She was asked. "I am healthy," she replied.

Before the Wall, three thousand East Berliners a day migrated into West Berlin. The East Berlin woman was asked what would happen if the Wall were torn down tomorrow.

"The same flow would start," she said. "That's why the Wall will be up for a long, long time."

People in the News

WATERVILLE, Maine (AP) — Kansas publisher Dolph C. Simons Jr., cited for his contributions in easing tensions in a riot-torn Kansas city, has been selected as the 20th Elijah Parish Lovejoy fellow.

Simons was named Tuesday by Colby College as the 1972 recipient of the Lovejoy award, which honors the memory of an 1826 Colby graduate who died defending his weekly newspaper press from a proslavery mob at Alton, Ill., in 1837.

Simons, president and publisher of the Lawrence (Kan.) Daily Journal-World, is also a director of The Associated Press and of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

He was cited two years ago by Editor & Publisher magazine for helping ease tensions, through his newspaper, after rioting broke out in Lawrence over the killings of two young persons.

While reporting the troubles, Simons was fired on several times but wasn't hit. He also was the victim of telephone harassment, threats to his family and theft of his car, the Colby announcement said.

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Florida businessman Glenn W. Turner says he plans to sell his legally embattled corporate empire.

The 37-year-old Turner told the Miami Herald Tuesday he expects to collect $1 billion from the sale of his 10-company conglomerate over the next five years. He did not divulge further details.

He said firms in Glenn W. Turner Enterprises Inc. grossed $120 million last year.

Legal actions have been filed in at least 42 states against Turner's "Dare to be Great, a self-confidence building program, and a cosmetics company called Koscot Interplanetary Inc., attacking primarily the marketing practices of the two firms.

Turner also faces trial in Clearwater, Fla., Oct. 4 on 86 counts of selling unregistered securities.

Fidelis Class meets Monday

The Fidelis Class of the First Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. Norris Rateliff Monday, Sept. 18.

An arrangement of spider lilies and pomegranates were used as a centerpiece.

Mrs. John Cox and Mrs. Wayne Bass served Salisbury steak and stuffed peppers. Green beans in mushroom sauce with chestnuts and onion rings, baked beans, corn and potato salad was served by Mrs. Bob Crawford and Mrs. L.W. Sanderland. Mrs. T.J.

Barber served hot rolls, pickles, and relish. Mrs. Doyle Yocum served a dessert of chocolate cake with coconut pecan frosting. Coffee and iced tea was served by the hostesses.

Mrs. Theron King, teacher, gave the opening prayer and Sharon Rateliff presented two piano solos. Mrs. Gene Pendergraft gave a devotion and showed slides of this year's mission trip she made to New Mexico with the youth of the church.

Little color at U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Most African delegates at the opening session of 27th General Assembly abandoned traditional costumes and wore Western-style suits. But African women representatives mostly clung to their multicolored gowns and headscarves.

Exceptions were men as well as women delegates from Nigeria, Chad, Guinea and Mali, resplendent in their floor-length native costumes. Men from Zaire wore leopard skin hats with a Mao-type jacket.

Male members of the Tanzanian delegation were dressed in brown, blue and cream Mao jackets.

Stealing costume honors, however, was the five-man Bhutan delegation, decked out in short, knee-length orange and red bathroom-type robes with broad white cuffs, and calf-length gold-decorated leather boots. Generally, however, the 800 delegates attending opening ceremonies Tuesday in the blue and gold assembly hall dressed conservatively and low-key.

Attending its first full session of the assembly, Ambassador Huang Hua's Chinese delegation was uniformly dressed in gray-blue Mao jackets.

Before the session opened, four Chinese photographers, including a movie cameraman, recorded their ambassador's handshaking exchange with the Tanzanian ambassador, Salim Ahmed Salim.

A few rows behind, meanwhile, South African Ambassador Carl F. G. von Hirschberg shook hands warmly with Ambassador Yosef Tekoa of Israel.

Two thousand friends and relatives of diplomats filled public and visitors' galleries.

They saw three "novices" initiated on the assembly podium. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim sat in a place of honor for his first assembly as the organization's chief administrative officer.

Stanislaw Trepczynski, Poland's deputy foreign minister, held center stage as the newly elected president of the assembly.

Sitting on Trepczynski's left was Bradford Morse, top-ranking American on the U.N. staff, also a newcomer. As under-secretary-general for political and General Assembly affairs, he is the man who guides the president in assembly procedures.

—Pilat de Rozier and Jules Romain were killed in the first aviation fatality in June 1985, when a static spark ignited the flammable hydrogen gas.

It's 1973, and Chevrolet roofs are opening, seats are swiveling, bumpers are retracting, hatches are flipping up.

Did you ever have so much to talk about that you didn't know what to say first?

We're happy to report that's us for 1973. But since everything must begin somewhere...

Isn't it romantic?

You see that rectangle beaming at you from above? That's a moonroof. Not to be confused with a sunroof. (Although many people will undoubtedly be caught using it like one.) A power roof is available on Chevelle and Monte Carlo; a manual one on Nova.

Bumpers are exciting?

This year's are something to get stirred up about. One of our new bumpers, for example, is built around twin hydraulic cylinders. So on minor impact, the whole system retracts to cushion the shock.

It's standard on all big Chevrolet, Chevelle and Monte Carlo

New Nova Hatchback Coupe.

New Malibu Colonnade Hardtop Coupe.

Look what we hatched

You know us for our little Vega Hatchback. Now dependable Nova has one. Which literally makes it half trunk with the backseat down. It's a feature as practical as Nova itself.

We've been thinking about your legs

One of the few things people asked us to improve in our popular Chevelle was leg room in the backseat. Well, your knees will be pleased with the '73s. There's almost 3 1/2 more inches in the sedans.

So what else is new

Naturally this is only a taste of what's new for '73.

Among other things, we're introducing larger gas tanks for longer cruising range, a new Exhaust Gas Recirculation system, a hatchback for wagons, and a highly refined flow-through power ventilation system.

Plus a reading light for front seat passengers, improved suspension systems, engines that give you performance combined with gas economy, reclining seats and scores of dramatic styling changes.

We invite you to see it all at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Building a better way to see the U.S.A.

(above) Caprice Coupe. Our new uppermost Chevrolet. Its luxury, comfort and quiet ride rival the most expensive cars you can buy.

(below) Monte Carlo S Coupe, America's newest road car. With the handling of the finest European cars, and the looks and comfort of an American car.

Blacks take over mess hall

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — A group of black airmen from the Laredo Air Force Base are back in their barracks today after expressing what they called "a feeling of isolation" in this largely Mexican-American town with a peaceful but tense takeover of the base's mess hall.

The airmen held the mess hall for eight hours before walking out Tuesday afternoon under a promise from the base commander that no disciplinary action would be taken and an investigation made of their complaints.

A spokesman for wing commander Col. L.W. Svendsen said later that no damage was caused to the mess hall.

Four representatives of the group of nearly 30 met with Col. Svendsen and aired a list of grievances ranging from the lack of "black-oriented clothes at the post exchange" to what one of them called "racism among Mexican-Americans in the base and in the town."

They also complained about the lack of social life for the few blacks in the base and what they termed the long lines that blacks are required to serve in Laredo.

A base spokesman said there are nearly 200 blacks on the base which has a total 2,700 military personnel.

There are very few blacks in Laredo, a South Texas city located across the Rio Grande from the Mexican town of Nuevo Laredo.

In the past there have been no incidents of violence between blacks and Mexican-Americans in Laredo or Mexicans in Nuevo Laredo.

But a base spokesman indicated that the blacks have little to do socially in the town.

Col. Svendsen himself said: "Whether real or imagined, the black airmen feel they have a problem in that Laredo is isolated as far as blacks are concerned. They are almost base bound when it comes to being among their own people."

A base spokesman said that Svendsen promised the group's representatives that he would do all he could to ease racial problems in Laredo and at the base and look into the other complaints.

The blacks also said they want "someone who listens to their problems with a positive attitude."

Gloom: Bad news for networks

NEW YORK (AP) — In two pronounced instances, the merry month of May has brought only gloom to the three U.S. television networks. Each time the woe has come from the Federal Communications Commission.

Eleven years ago, the month brought a declaration by then-FCC chairman Newton Minow that commercial television was "a vast wasteland."

In May nine years later, the FCC adopted the controversial prime-time access rule. For a year now, the rule in effect has stripped each network of 3½ hours of highly profitable time each week and returned it to local stations.

But this year's month of network gloom has been changed to September.

Hollywood craft and talent unions have demanded quantity — more new programs and far fewer prime-time network reruns — as a means of reducing widespread unemployment among their members.

The networks estimate they now spend 45 per cent of their prime time — 8 p.m. to 11 p.m. — broadcasts on reruns.

A study by Hollywood unions says the national average is closer to 60 per cent. They're asking the FCC to limit reruns to 13 weeks a year and require networks to present an additional 12 weeks of first-run programming.

The networks insist that production costs already are so high that they'd suffer heavy financial losses if forced to buy more new programs than they now do.

The real network agony officially got underway last Thursday because of a letter President Nixon sent John Gavin, head of the Screen Actors Guild.

In it, Nixon said he agreed increased prime-time network reruns constituted an "economic threat" to film industry members. And he promised to look into remedial action by the government if necessary.

Uganda threatens a new offensive

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — Uganda today threatened fresh strikes into Tanzania "should it be necessary," and said a force of about 1,000 that crossed the border from Tanzania Sunday was scattered and on the run.

A military spokesman said the army and air force are "ready to strike." He said 300 of the original invading force had been killed and 50 captured by Ugandan troops.

Ugandan air force planes have made two raids in the past two days on the Tanzanian town of Bukoba, on the shores of Lake Victoria, about 30 miles south of here.

After the second raid, the spokesman said that the town was deserted and appeared to have been evacuated.

The invaders were believed to be exiles apparently seeking the return to power of former President Milton Obote, ousted last year by Ugandan President Idi Amin. Tanzanian sources Tuesday attributed the attacks to exile forces.

Meanwhile the State Department in Washington said U.S. Ambassador Thomas P. Melady will seek an explanation for a shooting incident in Uganda that left a former American Peace Corps volunteer dead and another slightly injured.

Diplomatic sources in London said the two were shot when they inadvertently drove into a disturbed area of fighting Sunday.

Numbers of Europeans, Asians and Africans are being detained in Uganda, as well as nine Americans, including Associated Press Correspondent Andrew Torchia.

Six British journalists were expelled early today.

When the six flew into London they declined to talk about Americans and West Europeans held in Kampala.

Flares fired in Belfast

BELFAST (AP) — British troops fired flares to light up darkened streets in a Roman Catholic stronghold early today as they fought two gun battles with guerrillas on a shooting spree.

Troops claimed they hit two of at least five gunmen who ambushed patrols around the Falls Road area.

The first firefight broke out when four guerrillas raked an army foot patrol near a cemetery. The soldiers fired back and said they hit one sniper.

Shortly afterward, at least one sniper fired at troops from the roof of a nearby community center. Soldiers claimed he, too, was hit.

The army said no soldiers were hit in either shootout.

Meanwhile, there were unconfirmed reports that the IRA's Provisional command had ordered its guerrillas to stop planting car bombs at the end of this month and concentrate on hitting military targets.

The reports, which followed strong indications the Provisionals planned to end their bloody bombing campaign of civilian targets, said guerrillas were to be trained in "new tactics."

These were believed to include sniper ambushes and mine attacks on army patrols on country roads similar to the ambushes staged along lonely roads near the Irish Republican border in the last few weeks.

Army spokesmen refused to comment on the reports. But the Provisionals have been under increasing pressure by Catholics as well as their own men to end their terror campaign.

Catholics were said to be sickened by the indiscriminate violence which claimed Catholic as well as Protestant lives.

Guerrillas were reported increasingly reluctant to go on bombing missions because of the unstable chemicals they have had to use and which have resulted in the death of at least eight of their comrades in premature blasts.

Vote of confidence asked for by Germany's Brandt

BONN, Germany (AP) — West German Chancellor Willy Brandt asked today for a vote of confidence he expects to lose, in a maneuver to blast open a four-month parliamentary deadlock and clear the way for elections in November.

Brandt, who hopes through the elections to regain his lost majority in Parliament, asked for the confidence vote in a dramatic speech to the Bundestag, or lower house.

The televised session opened with members standing in tribute to 11 slain Israeli Olympic team members. Bundestag President Kai-uwe von Hassel said they "fell victim to the barbarous attack of Arab terrorists" at the Munich games Sept. 5.

Brandt stressed that the confidence vote, expected Friday, would be merely a constitutional device to bring about elections and losing it would not be a defeat for his government of Social Democrats and Free Democrats.

Both Brandt and the opposition Christian Democrats want the confidence vote to fail so they can get on with the campaign for the voting on Nov. 19.

The chancellor said the real vote of confidence in his three-year administration would come from German voters and today's parliamentary maneuver was a way of putting it to them.

Brandt's government lacks the majority to survive the vote of confidence Friday. And he will make doubly sure of defeat by ordering members of his cabinet to abstain from voting.

Barring unforeseen complications, the Social Democratic chancellor will then ask President Gustav Heinemann to dissolve Parliament next week and call elections Nov. 19, nearly a year before the originally scheduled autumn 1973 date.

Brandt's maneuver, a constitutional device never before used in the Bundestag's 23-year history, provides a cure for the paralysis that has gripped the Bundestag since April.

Defection of several of Brandt's lawmakers robbed him of his ruling majority and left both sides of the 496-vote Bundestag unable to muster more than 248 votes each.

The opposition Christian Democrats indicated they would attack Brandt's record during debate on the confidence motion, giving a preview of an election campaign observers predicted would be one of West Germany's bitterest and closest.

Before the confidence vote Friday, both sides prepared to battle for narrow voting majorities on several bills each hoped would provide psychological victories, among them rival pension reform packages.

Brandt's Social Democrats and their free Democratic coalition partners were handicapped by a last-minute announcement that Karl Schiller, who rocked the government by resigning as economics and finance minister in July, will not attend the Bundestag session.

DAVID WATKINS

Ad man is guest at Hope Kiwanis Club

Kiwanis guest speaker at their Tuesday's meeting was David Watkins, Hope native and son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Watkins, who now makes his home in Little Rock where he is executive vice president of Faulkner & Associates, an advertising agency.

Watkins, with the assistance of Jim Cleveland, an associate in his business, presented slides, movies, and sound track along with his talk titled the Past, Present, and Future of the Advertising Business.

"The advertising business has been called a mad, crazy, ulcers at 30 business," said Watkins. Some of its principles go back to the day of Adam and Eve. Tell one he can't have an item and a desire for that item is created. Then along came the idea of bigger is better, and that a change in packaging will create a desire for a product. Advertising is salesmanship in print.

Since the time of the printed word advertising has earned a place in the business world, and about 1917 it really came of age and was accepted as a means of selling a product or an idea. Slogans in advertising became a definite part of the game.

In the early 1920s Radio took its place as an advertising medium, and in the late twenties innovations began to appear. It was in the late twenties that the tobacco industry first illustrated ads with women smokers, and such, then well known, characters as Fibber McGee and Molly were used in radio commercials.

In the 1940s comic strip ads and endorsements of a product by well known sports figures came into the advertising profession. Then in the 1950s television with its pictures, jingles, and entertaining spots took its place in promoting products.

Through the years certain products have been advertised, their type of advertising having grown up with the advertising business. Some of the bigger advertisers in the early days of this century are still some of the bigger advertisers.

Watkins expressed some fears concerning the future of advertising. Practically all advertisers today attempt to tell it like it is in their ads, but some regulatory agencies with their witch hunts, trials in the news media, and deceptive attacks on advertising and the advertiser tend to throttle an industry that has built some of the greatest businesses we have today.

Guests at Tuesday's meeting were Guy Watkins, father of the speaker, Gerald Keith, new Hope City Manager, and Jason Stewart, son of Kiwanian David Stewart.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

We have a strong feeling that not more than a corporal's guard of the thousands of players competing in the Olympiad fund game will have bid and made five diamonds.

The bidding will start with a diamond by South and a spade response by North. South's correct rebid is three diamonds. We can visualize some cautious Norths passing this; other Norths will try three no-trump on the theory that their kind of diamonds will solidify a diamond suit and that East and West won't be able to run a suit of their own first.

These players will be rudely disillusioned. East will lead a heart and five quick heart tricks will develop.

A three-spade or four-diamond call by North will get South to five diamonds. Then it is up to him to try to make it. If hearts are opened and continued he can ruff; play ace, king and another club and ruff small in dummy. The queen of clubs will drop and he will be home free.

If a trump is opened that same series of clubs plays will win for him, but after a trump lead that is an inferior line.

The best line is simply to win the first trump in his own hand; lead a second trump to dummy's king and take a club finesse. This represents a 50 per cent chance and is better than any other club suit play.

Of course, South will lose a heart and a spade on any line he takes.

Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — If you fail to analyze critically those surveys made from time to time about the swift growth in fringe benefits paid to workers you might believe that life is becoming a big handout.

Last year, according to a National Chamber of Commerce study, such benefits accounted for 30.8 per cent of the average firm's payroll.

In 1961, the study states, the average annual benefits paid cost $1,254. Similar payments last year averaged $2,544, a gain of 103 per cent in one decade.

Out of average annual earnings of $8,260 paid in 1971, the Chamber lists three average benefits per employee: Social Security $372, up 178 per cent in a decade; insurance $369, up 171 percent; paid sick leave $81, 131 per cent up.

Following in order are: profit sharing $86, up 105 per cent; paid holidays $244, up 94 per cent; private pensions $402, up 91 per cent; paid vacations $400, up 90 per cent, and "other" $228, up 20 per cent.

Does this mean that labor is draining away the vitality of its employer? Some businessmen are inclined toward that point of view.

Before jumping to conclusions you must define "worker," because some of the most beneficial fringes are those that make the executive's life more comfortable and financially rewarding. Benefits are not solely a blue-collar phenomenon.

Nevertheless, some executives draw on a vast array of statistics showing that corporate profits have indeed been pinched in recent years by rising payroll costs, despite the growth in overall prosperity.

But in a broader perspective that includes social good and national goals it is more difficult to assess the impact. Productivity of American factories has not risen as fast as in many countries, but that may be changing.

In fact, a study just released by Standard & Poor's shows that "for the first time in recent years there was a significant dip in 1971 in the portion of the sales dollars of industrial companies that went into payrolls."

S&P defines payrolls to include wages, salaries and fringe benefits, which it said amounted to only 26 cents for every dollar of sales, down from nearly 28 cents in 1970. The percentage was the lowest since the 1950s.

Questions on soldier's heart

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—Would you comment on the difference between soldier's heart disease and effort syndrome compared to angina pectoris caused by atherosclerosis in terms of their symptoms and treatment? I have been treated for four years for coronary heart disease. My blood pressure is normal, cholesterol normal, I don't smoke, or have diabetes. I'm not overweight, or have other evidences of circulatory problems. I'm inclined to think my doctor may be treating me for the wrong thing and perhaps I have soldier's heart disease.

Dear Reader—You must have been doing some reading since not very many people know about soldier's heart disease. Angina pectoris, of course, is pain in the chest usually caused by atherosclerosis (fatty deposits in the arteries). It is a very common disease in the American population and another manifestation of the same disorder of the heart that causes the common heart attack. The main difference is that the attacks are much shorter in duration and often milder.

Soldier's heart disease is sometimes called neurocirculatory asthenia. Individuals with the problem have symptoms that simulate angina pectoris or heart disease although they have nothing structurally wrong with their heart. These individuals often have sharp pain under the left nipple. They become breathless with minimal amounts of exertion and some complain of skipped beats or palpitations of the heart. Faintness while standing is common. It is also called "effort syndrome" because many of the reactions resemble the feeling a person has after having done an unusual amount of effort.

It was commonly observed in soldiers undergoing physical training and Sir Thomas Lewis, a famous British heart specialist, observed that it occurred in office workers and men with sedentary habits who were then put into a fairly vigorous physical training program. Most heart specialists feel that individuals who have this kind of problem are in poor physical condition and that the proper treatment is a very gradual increase in the level of physical activity.

Since a person who is taking medicine for heart disease, such as you are, may have a fairly serious problem, it is very important that the individual doesn't take it upon himself to try to differentiate between these two problems. That's what the doctor is for. If you're wrong and decide you merely have symptoms caused by an inadequate level of physical fitness and embark on an exercise program on your own, you can do yourself a great deal of harm. The doctor will make his decision by careful examination and sometimes by the effects of exercise upon the electrocardiogram taken before, sometimes during, and after the exercise period, in the doctor's office. If an individual has sufficient findings to make a diagnosis of angina pectoris or heart disease without the exercise procedure, the doctor may not wish to subject the patient to this test.

Explanation for shooting sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Thomas P. Melady will seek an explanation for a shooting incident in Uganda in East Africa that left one former American Peace Corps volunteer dead and another slightly injured, the State Department announced here.

The former volunteer, identified Tuesday as Louis Morton of Houston, Tex., was shot while travelling toward Kampala on Sept. 17 after fighting broke out in the country. A companion, Robert Freed of Madison, Wis., another former volunteer, was slightly injured and later released.

State Department press officer Charles Bray said the pair had been stopped twice on the road but allowed to continue before they were shot at. He said the attack apparently was not directed at Americans as such, and that Ambassador Melady "intends to seek explanation."

Nine Americans have been

Is Mideast peace possible?

BEIRUT (AP) — An angry and frustrated Israel has declared war to the bitter end against Arab terrorists and the governments that support them.

The violence which many in the area now think is inevitable may set back peace efforts but is unlikely to shatter them.

This manhunt against Arab terrorists may — while satisfying an emotional desire for revenge — actually improve peace prospects.

Israel believes Arab governments are unable or unwilling to tackle the Palestinian guerrilla movement and the small, hardcore terrorist movement. Israeli leaders evidently believe it is better to stamp the guerrillas out now than let them run loose, lest one day they torpedo a possible peace agreement with Egypt or Jordan.

at the Munich Olympics, the Israeli government said in a statement: "Israel, will persevere in its struggle against the terror organizations and will not absolve their accomplices from responsibility for terrorist actions."

Since then Israel has conducted a bombing raid in Syria and a military raid into southern Lebanon, saying both operations were aimed at wiping out guerilla bases tolerated by the Syrians and Lebanese.

Israel's duty, Prime Minister Golda Meir has said, is "to fight the terrorist organizations to the very end...to strike at the terrorist organizations wherever we can."

But she said this campaign would "not alter our peace policy." Israel had directed several barely concealed peace feelers at Egypt and Jordan before the Munich tragedy.

Foreign Minister Abba Eban said much the same thing, but his remarks underscored the Israelis' determination to wipe out the guerrillas.

Correspondents covering Eban's recent news conference could not remember his ever being so angry as when he said: "Peace isn't the question in my mind today. The question is how to eliminate this scourge (terrorism)."

He made it quite clear that the Munich killings had pushed the search for peace into the background, and he added that, in all future meetings with foreign government officials, "I would not talk to them about anything except this — terrorism."

In an apparent indication he shares the view that Israel eventually will have to redress Palestinian grievances in any peace settlement, Eban concluded: "Any legitimate aspiration in the Middle East can be achieved by peaceful means."

Eban later said Jordan was welcome to include Palestinians in any negotiating team it might send to talk peace, "representation that would reflect all the parties with whom we wish to reach peace."

However, in discussions before Munich, the Israeli Cabinet was divided over which Arab government to approach first — Egypt or Jordan.

The Israeli defense minister, Gen. Moshe Dayan, believes the first address should be to Egypt, "in whose hands is the key to peace."

Addressing himself obliquely to the Egyptians, Dayan in a speech Aug. 17 suggested a division of the Sinai Peninsula as a "compromise of the Egyptian-Israeli conflict. It is line, temporary or permanent, could give the populated areas of both Egypt and Israel maximum security."

Israeli political observers called Dayan's statement a "significant shift in Israeli policy" and noted that Dayan once had said he would rather fight than pull out of occupied territory under a settlement less than full peace.

On the other side in the Israeli Cabinet discussions are those who favor approaching the Arab leader most willing to talk peace at the moment, Jordan's King Hussein. They include Deputy Prime Minister Yigal Allon, Eban and Finance Minister Pinhas Sapir.

Mrs. Meir appears to be fluctuating between these two lines, AP Correspondent Hal McClure reports from Tel Aviv.

Hussein has a plan for a Palestinian province under his authority. The guerrillas vehemently oppose this. Black September and other extremist groups have vowed to assassinate him if they can.

Thus Israelis believe it is in their interest to remove these groups from the Middle East stage if they can while remaining open to any peace proposals.

Gunfire erupts across line

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gunfire exploded again across the Syrian-Israeli ceasefire lines today as Israelis called for tighter security against Arab terrorist murders in Europe.

The Israeli military command reported at dawn that Arab gunners inside Syria opened artillery fire on the occupied Golan Heights, near the border region where Israeli forces invaded South Lebanon on an antiguerrilla mission over the weekend. There were no casualties, and the Israelis returned the fire, the command said.

Syrian shellfire has been aimed at the Golan Heights for more than a week, and most Israelis regard it as insignificant, but Arab terrorist attacks outside the Middle East have set a grim new mood in the country.

The newest Arab sabotage—a flurry of parcel bombs in Europe which killed an Israeli agricultural attaché in London Tuesday—brought a warning from foreign minister Abba Eban that terrorists will get what is coming to them.

He derided the agricultural attaché, Ami Shachori, as "a

Oldsmobile for '73

Cutlass. It's two new cars.

Cutlass S
Colonnade
Hardtop Coupe.
Sportier this year. Roomier. Heavier.
Yet surprisingly easy to own. Even if you order the new swivel bucket seats.
Cutlass Supreme Colonnade Hardtop
Coupe (foreground). More of a little limousine than ever. You can see it in the formal roofline and new opera side windows. You can feel it in the spacious, quiet interior. And even in the ride we've patterned after our bigger Oldsmobiles.

Delta 88—with a new grille that swings out of harm's way.

For '73, we've made the Delta 88 tougher than ever. The Swing-Away Grille (pictured at left) is just one way. It's teamed with an improved hydraulic front bumper system: if the bumper gets tapped, the grille swings out of the way. We pound the seats 100,000 times, and drive the Delta 88 thousands of hard miles, to test durability. All to make sure it's more than just big, comfortable and smooth-riding—not just another pretty car.

Omega. The new compact Olds at a compact price.

It's a whole new kind of Olds. And the lowest-priced of all. Omega is a compact—but one with big car thinking built in. It's nearly 500 pounds more car than some smaller compacts. Its wheelbase is longer, 111 inches, for a smooth ride. And you can feel the difference on the road. A deluxe interior with new "wet-look" vinyl trim is standard. So is full carpeting. And a 250-cu.-in. engine. Coupe, 3-door hatchback or sedan, it's a lot of Olds for the money.

See the '73 Toronado, Ninety-Eight, all the new ones at your Olds dealer's showroom now.

Agnew has new theory

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has suggested that somebody set up the wiretapping raid on Democratic headquarters and the tipped authorities in an effort to embarrass the Republican party.

Advancing that as a personal theory while saying he had no evidence of it, Agnew demonstrated that when he goes campaigning—in his new style as in his old—controversy is virtually assured.

On opening day of his 1972 travels for the Republican ticket, Agnew dealt with two of the most controversial items on the campaign agenda, the Watergate wiretapping, which Democrats are blaming on the GOP, and assertions—which he disputed—that big grain dealers profited from advance word of a U.S. wheat sale to the Soviet Union.

Agnew was campaigning today in St. Louis, with his first appearance scheduled at the dedication of a new juvenile detention center.

After the dedication and a St. Louis speech, Agnew was to move on to Columbus, Ohio, third stop on an eight-state campaign tour.

The vice president Tuesday likened Democratic allegations about the wheat deal to Democratic assertions about the Watergate break-in case, saying the opposition raised an "innuendo of impropriety" without demonstrating anything.

Agnew told a news conference in Minneapolis that President Nixon had asked the Federal Bureau of Investigation to look thoroughly into the wheat deal "to see whether anyone has taken any undue profit, due to any misinformation or improperly revealed information on the part of the federal government."

In Washington, a Justice Department spokesman said: "A preliminary review of the matter referred to by Vice President Agnew is under way."

Dealing with the Watergate case, Agnew said that whoever is guilty of involvement in the raid on Democratic national headquarters in Washington June 17 should be punished, "and insofar as they relate to Republican policy-makers, if that can be shown, we have to take the consequences."

But Agnew said he is convinced "that just didn't happen," and that no top level Republican is involved.

A grand jury has indicted seven men, including five seized inside Democratic headquarters, on charges of illegally entering and conspiring to bug the offices. The other two are former White House aides.

Lawrence F. O'Brien, McGovern's campaign chairman, has filed an invasion-of-privacy damage suit, naming top Republicans.

"I have a personal theory that I can't substantiate any more than Mr. O'Brien can substantiate his wild accusations," Agnew said.

"What I'm saying is that someone set up these people and encouraged them to undertake this caper to embarrass them and to embarrass the Republican party," he added.

"I'm saying there could be someone within this group who was not interested in anything other than having them discovered."

We're proud of our employees.

They're doing good jobs for you and for us.

Our employees not only serve the railroads loyally and efficiently, but they serve our state the same way.

Who are our employees? Nearly 9,000 workers in many crafts with many skills. More than 2,000 work in our shops, keeping our locomotives and cars moving. Another thousand work on the track and bridges so the trains can roll. Still another 2,000 work in our offices, selling our services and supervising our activities. And there are many, many more.

Actually, there are more railroaders working off the trains than on them. Only one out of every three Arkansas railroaders is a trainman or engineman and many trainmen don't actually live in the state.

In Arkansas, railroaders serve as Scout leaders, Little League coaches and do numerous other public service projects. Wherever there's volunteer work, you'll probably find a railroad man or woman.

We're proud of our employees. Like us, they're pulling for you.

Aid for appeal of Bremer is hinted

BALTIMORE (AP) — Arthur H. Bremer's attorney says the convicted assailant of Governor George Wallace needs help in paying for his appeal and has obtained permission to arrange for publication of Bremer's diary.

The 114-page diary discloses Bremer's attempts to shoot President Nixon and Wallace. Wallace was paralyzed when shot down at a political rally at Laurel, Md., May 15.

As a protective measure, U.S. District Court Judge Edward Northrop had originally ordered that the diary information be kept secret.

But Bremer's attorney, Benjamin Lipsitz, later was allowed use of the diary as evidence in Bremer's state trial.

New breakthrough in eye surgery

BOSTON (AP) — Retina experts say a temporary artificial vitreous for the eye, which can aid in the healing of reattached retina, could be available for widespread use in two years.

The vitreous is the clear gel substance inside the eye which gives it shape and helps hold its parts in place. As some people age or contract certain diseases, this gel can liquefy, distorting the shape of the eye and leaving it vulnerable to conditions which can cause blindness.

Eye experts at a conference commemorating the 25th anniversary of the Retina Service of the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary say a substitute for vitreous is being used in special cases at selected research centers and may be available for wider use in two years, if the Federal Drug Administration clears it.

Dr. Charles L. Schepens, founder and director emeritus of the Infirmary's Retina Service and considered one of the world's leading retina experts, said a vitreous substitute is needed to counteract forces which tend to pull the retina off the eye when normal vitreous is lost.

The retina is the tissue which lines the inner wall of the eye. It receives light messages and transmits them to the brain via the optic nerve. When the retina becomes detached or torn, vision is impaired and blindness can result.

Schepens said retina detachment affects the vision of one of every 10,000 Americans each year and the major cause of this detachment is the pulling of the shrinking vitreous, which also can tear away pieces of retina.

He added that loss of vitreous can lead to impaired vision by also leaving spaces in the eye ball in which abnormal tissue can grow and obstruct vision.

Researchers say that finding a permanent substitute vitreous is probably years away, but they say substances which last two or three weeks before breaking down have been used successfully in selected cases. They say this is enough time for retina to heal in place after being reattached through surgical and other means.

Schepens said the temporary vitreous substitute being tested is composed of hyaluronate acids, a normal component of the vitreous.

Unauthorized trip law -- Fonda Law -- is proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new law against unauthorized trips by Americans to enemy nations is being proposed by the House Internal Security Committee chairman in the wake of actress Jane Fonda's Hanoi broadcasts to U.S. servicemen.

Under a bill to be offered to day by Rep. Richard H. Ichord, D-Mo., it would be a felony, punishable by up to 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine, for anyone to make an unauthorized visit to a nation at war with the United States.

The measure, an amendment to the 1950 Internal Security Act, would let the president authorize such travel when he deems it is in the national interest.

Ichord, head of the Internal Security Committee, said the bill is aimed at actions such as those of Miss Fonda and others who, "like her, have traveled to Hanoi to publicly demonstrate their sympathy for the enemy in a bitter and prolonged undeclared war in Southeast Asia."

Committee sources said the Justice Department apparently has no case against Miss Fonda under existing law. A Justice Department official met privately with the committee Tuesday but refused to discuss details of the department's probe.

Ichord suggested the Nixon administration does not want to risk making Miss Fonda's visit a political issue. He feels she will "never be brought to trial" under current laws against treason, sedition or efforts to undermine military morale.

The actress has said she did nothing wrong by broadcasting antiwar remarks from Hanoi to U.S. servicemen.

Who in America would introduce a new car like this?

Grand Am with Colonnade Hardtop styling

Luxury LeMans 4-door Colonnade Hardtop

And styling like this?

Grand Prix Hardtop Coupe

And a classic like this?

Only Pontiac would.

Pontiac introduces the first Grand Am. It has the feel of a Grand Prix. The handling of a sports car. The characteristics you've admired in fine road cars. That could make it the newest American car ever.

The 1973 Luxury LeMans has been totally restyled. With great benefits. Improved bumpers. Excellent visibility. A strong, new roof.

The classic Grand Prix is designed around a single principle. Spare nothing, compromise nothing, the driver is all-important. You'll understand when you get behind the wheel.

Pontiac has more news, too. New comfort for Catalina, Bonneville and Grand Ville. A new low-priced Ventura Hatchback. For our Firebirds, stronger bumpers, nicer interiors. Shouldn't you see a Pontiac dealer? Soon?

1973 Buick Wagons. There's one for every size family.

Families are something special to Buick. Which is why Buick offers such a wide array of wagon choices for 1973.

Six wagons in all, from the modestly-priced Century to Buick's most luxurious station wagon, the 1973 Estate Wagon.

All of Buick's new wagons have specially tailored suspensions to help maintain superb handling and riding comfort, even when loaded. All have Buick's AccuDrive, for forward stability on bumpy roads, winding roads or in strong cross-winds. All have power front disc brakes for smooth, straight-line stops.

The smaller wagons for 1973 include the Century and Century Luxus, both available in four-door models with two or three seats. And an easy lift-up tailgate for loading ease. And a huge cargo area.

The Estate Wagon comes with four doors in a two-seat model or three-seat model with forward facing rear third seat. The rear glass glides away into the roof electrically and the gate slides under the floor to reveal a whopping cargo capacity of 106 cubic-feet.

Whatever your station wagon wants are, there's a good chance Buick can fill them. And fill them better.

The 1973 Buick engine story.

All new Buick engines for 1973 have a new emission control system.

A special exhaust gas recirculation unit and air injection reactor help reduce pollutants, yet provide smooth idle and good performance on no-lead or low-lead fuels. And a time-modulated choke system helps control emissions while giving quick starts and smooth operation during warm-up.

Buick engineers have gone to a lot of trouble in 1973 to create the kind of engine smoothness you've come to expect from Buick. And that comes from building in an emission control system as an integral part of Buick's engine.

Buick Motor Division, General Motors Corporation, reserves the right to make changes at any time, without notice, in prices, colors, materials, equipment, specifications, and models and also to discontinue models.
